

Change the Simile to a Metaphor

Put these similes into new sentences where they become metaphors.

1. Simile: She danced like she was floating on air.

Metaphor: She danced gracefully, floating on air.

2. Simile: The waves crashed on to the beach like charging horses.

Metaphor: The waves were charging horses crashing on to the beach.

3. Simile: He was eating like he was shovelling cement into a mixer.

Metaphor:

4. Simile: Katie was as powerful as a train when she crossed the finish line.

Metaphor: Katie was a powerful train when she crossed the finish line.

5. Simile: James swam as gracefully as a dolphin.

Metaphor: James was a graceful dolphin when he swam.

6. Simile: Mr. Jones sang like the sound of water going down a drain!

Metaphor: Mr. Jones' singing voice was the sound of water going down a drain!